Narrative Information

Introduction

The purpose of this program is to provide services and assistance directly to victims of crime to speed their recovery and aid them through the criminal justice process. Services may include the following:

- responding to the emotional and physical needs of crime victims;
- assisting victims in stabilizing their lives after a victimization;
- assisting victims to understand and participate in the criminal justice system; and
- providing victims with safety and security.

Program-Specific Questions

Culturally Competent Victim Restoration

Victim service providers must have the ability to blend cultural knowledge and sensitivity with victim restoration skills for a more effective and culturally appropriate recovery process. Cultural competency occurs when: (1) cultural knowledge, awareness and sensitivity are integrated into action and policy; (2) the service is relevant to the needs of the community and provided by trained staff, board members, and management; and (3) an advocate or organization recognizes each client is different with different needs, feelings, ideas and barriers.

Provide information in this section regarding how your organization is culturally competent when providing services to victims.

The El Paso County Attorney's Office recognizes the individual value that each client brings. We understand that everyone brings different needs, feelings, ideas, and barriers. With many of our applicants being Spanish speakers, we have taken steps to create a welcoming environment for applicants who may be from another country, and/or present with language barriers, and therefore are less likely to feel supported and understood. Many of our office staff also speak Spanish. In addition, our office pulls on other resources for translators and interpreters when necessary as we have a very culturally diverse population due to the local military base. The El Paso County Attorney's Office has a strong history of cultural awareness and sensitivity. We demand a commitment from our employees to see that victims of any culture are welcomed, safe, and supported when accessing services. We are committed to creating an environment of inclusion, and an ever-increasing awareness of cultures and lifestyles which are different from our own. We strive to achieve consciousness in our own biases and try to refrain from imposing our own cultural values and norms on those of our clients. The El Paso County Attorney's Office understands state and international borders as social constructs around territories and identities, not as a physical cultural divide, and we apply that understanding in our delivery of legal services. Accordingly, the El Paso County Attorney's Office operates seamlessly through cultural differences between victims that originate from both sides of the state and international border, as well as from our local military base, Ft. Bliss. We are constantly challenged to become more culturally competent, as our location provides a natural confluence of cultures and values which challenge us to commit ourselves to cultural competence on a regular basis. The attorneys and staff who make up the office come from different walks-of-life and bring their unique backgrounds and experiences to their delivery of legal services. The office is sensitive to the needs of individual victims when assigning the appropriate person from the office with the relevant background and experience. The Office is also responsive to the needs of the community by ensuring that attorneys and staff are engaged in the community through presentations at different venues, participating in community events, and a commitment to the ideals of public service. Through this commitment to the ideals of public service the office aims to listen and address the concerns of the community by actively problem-solving and developing sensitive policies that address such concerns. The office has built partnerships and alliances with New Mexico victim's services, Ft Bliss victim's services and the Mexican Consulate. Our office is also very aware of the local LGBTQ community, and we are sensitive to their unique needs, and we have partnered with their supportive agencies to continue to provide competent representation.

Culturally Specific and Underserved Populations

Following are relevant definitions needed to answer this question.

- Underserved populations means populations who face barriers in accessing and using victim services, and includes populations underserved because of geographic location, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, underserved racial and ethnic populations, populations underserved because of special needs (such as language barriers, disabilities, alienage status, or age), and any other population determined to be underserved by the Attorney General or by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, as appropriate.
- Culturally specific means the program is primarily directed toward racial and ethnic minority groups (as defined in section 1707(g) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 300u-6(g)).
- Racial and ethnic minority group means American Indians (including Alaska Natives, Eskimos, and Aleuts); Asian Americans; Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders; Blacks; and Hispanics.
- Hispanic means individuals whose origin is Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American, or any other Spanish-speaking country.

Does your program have a primary focus on serving a culturally specific population? (The organization must do more than merely provide services to an underserved population or culturally specific group; rather, the organization's primary focus must be on providing culturally competent services designed to meet the specific needs of the target population in order to justify a YES response in the section below.)

☐ Yes
☒ No

If you answered 'YES' above, you must explain in the box below how your organization's program is specifically designed to focus on and meet the needs of culturally specific populations. If this item does not apply enter 'N/A'.

Project Abstract :

This grant will allow the County Attorney's Office to provide direct service to victims of intimate partner violence, sexual assault and/or stalking, who are in the process of progressing from crisis to self-sufficiency and empowerment. The purpose of the Victim Specialist position is to assist victims of intimate partner violence navigate the post-crisis phase of their journey. Specifically, our social worker assesses victims' immediate and long-term needs, assesses the level of current and continuing danger, engages victims in comprehensive safety planning, and coordinates access to various resources including local, state, and federal programs (example: housing, victim reimbursement, scholarships, lease agreements, small business loans etc.). Many barriers may prevent a victim from accessing any or all the resources available to them including personal safety concerns, lack of knowledge, language, transportation, child-care, lack of access to technology, and mental health. The Victim Specialist will help in coordination of access to local, state, and federal programs helps victims obtain information about the various resources available to them and provides victims the opportunity to overcome barriers and ultimately move forward from violence.

Problem Statement :

Victims of family violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking, face many barriers when attempting to access vital resources necessary to transition from crisis to self-sufficiency and empowerment. These may include personal safety concerns, lack of knowledge, language, transportation, child-care, lack of access to technology, and mental health. Due to these challenges and others, too often victims do not utilize resources available to them. That said, during times of ongoing violence, a victim in crisis will sometimes seek a protective order to address their immediate safety concerns, which provides a significant opportunity to address other needs. The County Attorney's Office can assist victims with a protective order in a time of crisis; the Victim Specialist will help victims with the various risk factors that arise when leaving an abusive relationship. Victim Specialist are focused on intervening upon clients' environments, in order to upend factors which are contributing to high-risk survival driven behaviors, and/or perpetuating the cycle of violence. Addressing a victim's immediate safety concerns in a time of crisis may be the only step a victim takes unless our office is intentional about offering additional resources in an informed, victim-centered manner. This project aims to usher the victim past crisis and into surviving, thriving, and ultimately empowerment. Ultimately the project will help victims identify the specific barriers contributing to continued crisis and provide them tools and resources to break through these individual barriers. The project staff, Victim Specialist, identifies those specific challenges through in-depth needs assessments, ongoing comprehensive safety planning, and the development of a Personal Empowerment Plan, while focusing on an individual victim's strengths. After identifying such barriers, the Victim Specialist will coordinate and directly assist the victim's access to various local, state, and federal resources and programs while addressing the identified barriers.

Supporting Data :

Victims that are seeking assistance from the County Attorney's Office are among the more egregious victim-intensive crimes (family and dating violence, stalking, and sexual assault); these cases often involve a family member and at the least some of the most intimate criminal behavior. The following supporting data and caseload statistics are compiled from El Paso County's Justice System "Odyssey" database. In fiscal year 2023, 3,017 people applied for a protective order with the County Attorney's Office; the office filed 639 applications for protective orders, including victims of elder abuse, child abuse, family violence, dating violence, stalking and sexual abuse. By the end of FY 2023, our office obtained 415 final protective orders. Since 2019, the number of applications has continued to climb significantly in part due to increased needs related to the pandemic and in part due to the creation of an on-line application process (unique to El Paso County). Over time, this approach to allowing Applicants to start the process on-line has been a game changer for survivors to be able to apply from anywhere they are – we are proud of the increased safety and convenience for applicants. The City of El Paso is the 6th largest city in Texas, the 22nd largest city in the United States of America and the largest Texas city directly on the US/Mexico border. The County of El Paso includes both the Tigua Indian Reservation and the Fort Bliss military installation. The US Census Bureau Quick Facts for 2022 reports that 20.1% of persons in El Paso County live below the poverty level compared to 14.2% for the State of Texas, and 11.6% for the U.S. Based on the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, as of October 2022, El Paso's unemployment rate is 4.3%, slightly higher than the State average rate of 4.0%, for that same exact period. Approximately 69.3% of the population, over the age of five, speaks a language other than English at home; this almost 200% higher than the state and over 300% higher than the national average. El Paso County is still experiencing growing pains, as a result of the growth at Fort Bliss Military Base and White Sands Missile Range. This change is seen in all parts of the County, challenging our local government resources. Furthermore, El Paso's sister city Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, which lies opposite and directly to the South across the Rio Grande River has a major impact on the area. The area, collectively, creates a bi-national community of more than 2 million people and is one of the single largest bi-national metropolitan areas in North America. In addressing our Problem Statement, this project would tackle many of the barriers to empowerment like language, poverty, and lack of education by facilitating access and navigation of services leading to the successful transition from crisis to empowerment.

Project Approach & Activities:

The Victim Specialist will complete a risk and danger assessment, provide ongoing safety planning, and crisis intervention to victims. The Victim Specialist will assess the victim's Person-in-environment (PIE) framework and address environmental barriers to accessing or utilizing appropriate resources. The goal of this initial assessment is to identify the immediate and long-term barriers preventing the victim from realizing self-sufficiency and empowerment. Once the initial assessment has been completed, the Victim Specialist will work with the victim and to help obtain and complete necessary applications for programs and benefits. The LMSW, along with the applicant, will create an individualized empowerment plan to help the victim triage their needs and focus on what to address immediately. The Victim Specialist may meet with the victim several times to assess the victim's ongoing needs, conduct safety planning, and coordinate access to and follow-up on referrals. The Victim Specialist will develop resource guides that will be made available to victims in both English and Spanish providing information on local, state, and federal resources. We define the program's objective and goals as follows: Objective: To provide applicants with a response to victimization that builds safety, stability, and resilience, while ultimately empowering them to break the cycle of violence Goals w/ delivery measures: 1) Assess risk and danger, provide applicants with a safety plan to mitigate risk -50% of applicants served will receive crisis intervention, including safety planning 2) Assess for and address barriers to utilizing available resources -90% of applicants served will receive information and resources -60% of applicants served will report engaging an applicable resource (CASV, Emergence MH, benefits etc.) 3) Build motivation and follow through in clients who may be resistant to change -15% of applicants served will complete at least one individual counseling session In addition to providing individual intervention to applicants, the Victim Specialist intends to contribute to public health preventative and proactive efforts against violence as much as possible. This will be achieved through participation in community events, networking across county departments, and bringing awareness to the nature of our unit. The Victim Specialist will interface with the public to address ambiguity about the process by participation in educational presentations whenever possible. The Victim Specialist will be an advocate and voice for our applicants as it pertains to relevant policy and legislation. Additionally, the Victim Specialist will serve as a resource to internal staff, should they have any questions or concerns regarding clients.

Capacity & Capabilities:

The County Attorney's office has the mission of representing the County of El Paso and the State of Texas by providing high quality, cost-effective legal services in an ethical, professional, and competent manner. We seek justice, secure the protection and safety of all people, and enhance the quality of life in our community. In doing so we treat all people with dignity, respect, honesty, and fairness. The County

Attorney's office currently files 90% of all protective order applications filed in the specialty protective order court. The Office represents the Department of Family and Protective Services, Adult Protective Services, and we process applications for emergency detention for individuals suffering from mental illness. Our office handles over 3,000 applications for protective orders for victims of family violence, sexual assault, stalking and dating violence on an annual basis. The work our office does with CPS and APS aids over 200 victims each year; over 150 community individuals seek out our office to assist family members or clients suffering from mental illness and hundreds more referrals come from hospitals and other agencies. Our office has one victim advocate that dedicates most of their time to assisting these victims, and one LMSW funded through previous grants for this program, who serves victims applying for protective orders. The majority of staff members are bilingual, experienced, and trained in doing intakes and dealing with victims of family violence and mental illness, these individuals will be able to assist in making the grant program a continued success by identifying individuals who need more in-depth screening from the grant program staff member. Additionally, our office already has strong partnerships with various agencies throughout the community such as, the Center Against Sexual and Family Violence, the local mental health authority, the local hospitals, all local law enforcement, local churches, non-profits and social programs to include veterans programs and our local military base. Maintaining and nurturing those partnerships will only benefit the grant project. The grant project also contemplates improving and strengthening those relationships with our partner agencies by establishing policies and procedures for referrals and follow up. A formal MOU has already been approved between the El Paso County Attorney's Office and the Center Against Sexual and Family Violence that allows for a streamlined client referral process and coordination of services between both agencies.

Performance Management :

The County Attorney's Office maintains data through a criminal justice database system called Odyssey. This data is maintained through El Paso County's Information Technology department and data input is completed by the employees of the office. The applicant's and respondent's data are generated when an intake is performed on an electronic application and then those fields are transferred into the Odyssey database by function of the program. There are various reports that can be obtained from the Odyssey program and data can be analyzed in various ways depending on the reports that are run. The Victim Specialist has also developed a case log spreadsheet that will track the different types of services provided to each victim, the dates of service, the number of times each service is provided, and amount of time spent providing each service. Data will be gathered as to how many victims are assisted in getting benefits and the types of benefits will be tracked. This will ensure that all other data necessary for state and federal reporting purposes is recorded. In 2023, we set out to improve our method for gathering client demographics and key information needed for grant reports. We previously relied on a self-reporting method, in which clients were sent out a link via email to complete an online form but due to low response rates, we incorporated the online form into our intake form, which is filled out by an intake specialist when conducting the intake interview with applicants. This method ensures we are capturing all the required data for grant reporting purposes. In addition to improving our data collection, we incorporated a new case management system within SharePoint that allows the Victim Specialist to track cases as they progress through the court process. This system allows the Victim Specialist to better evaluate which victims are appropriate for services.

Target Group :

The grant project seeks to engage all accepted applicants that come through our office under the protective services division. The protective services division provides services to victims of family violence, victims of sexual assault, victims of stalking, victims of dating violence, victims of elder abuse, victims of child abuse, and victims of assaults committed by their mentally ill loved ones. These victims are often in crisis when they seek assistance from our office and the grant program seeks to assist them in their transition from crisis to survival, then to see them thriving, and ultimately gaining self-sufficiency and empowerment. All those who have been disempowered through the dynamics of an abusive relationship are who we hope to serve. We are also prepared to engage with highly vulnerable and high-risk populations such as LGBTQI, people of color, disabled, elderly, impoverished, displaced or otherwise marginalized populations. These populations are at higher risk of dangerous outcomes, as their needs are often ignored and overlooked by established institutions of power, systemic racism and oppression.

Evidence-Based Practices:

The project focuses on several different evidence-based practices in working with survivors of intimate partner violence, including family violence, sexual assault, and stalking. Specifically, the Victim Specialist focuses on assessing the danger level, ongoing comprehensive safety planning, and solution-focused therapy practices to empower and transition the survivor from crisis to thriving. The Victim Specialist begins by conducting an initial assessment with the survivor to determine the survivor's immediate and long-term needs, assess the level of danger, initial safety planning, and empowerment planning. This initial meeting includes assessing the victim's state of mind by screening for signs of depression and risk of suicidal ideation, and the victim's level of danger by utilizing the Danger Assessment Tool originally developed by Jacquelyn Campbell (1986) with consultation and content validity support from battered women, shelter workers, law enforcement officials, and other clinical experts on battering. The Danger Assessment is an instrument that helps to determine the level of danger an abused woman has of being killed by her intimate partner. The 20-item instrument uses a weighted system to score yes/no responses to risk factors associated with intimate partner homicide. Some of the risk factors include past death threats, partner's employment status, and partner's access to a gun (for more information on the Danger Assessment Tool go to <https://www.dangerassessment.org/about.aspx>). After conducting the initial danger assessment, the LMSW is then able to begin with the initial safety planning. According to the research literature, safety planning should be done through an interactive process that engages the professional and the client in identifying general and specific strategies to promote the client's safety (Campbell 2002; Melbin 2010; Murray and Graves 2012), and this process should involve a conversation that empowers and promotes the client's autonomy (Campbell 2002). The end result of the safety planning process typically is a document with a personalized plan for the unique needs of the victim (Kress et al. 2008; Murray and Graves 2012). The plan should be simple; realistic; and include specific, behavioral strategies (Kolar and Davey 2007; Murray and Graves 2012). A safety plan should not be overly prescriptive, but it should address the client's unique context and characteristics (Campbell 2002). Ideally, safety plans address multiple forms of safety (not just physical), identify and strategize how best to address possible barriers, account for the coping strategies the victim uses already, and can be adaptable to new situations (Lindhorst et al. 2005). Usually, safety planning practices typically focus more on immediate, crisis-related safety issues and less on longer-term issues that survivors face. Although the immediate, crisis-related safety risks can be high, the process of leaving an abusive relationship can be extended and unpredictable (Wuest and Merritt-Gray 2001), and different safety needs may arise at different points in this process. This project aims to address the different ongoing safety needs that arise throughout a victim's journey. By providing for follow-up meetings with the Victim Specialist and ongoing safety planning the project addresses not only the immediate, crisis related safety issues but goes further to address the longer -term issues that typical safety planning does not address. The project hopes to ensure more successful outcomes due to this focus on transitioning the survivor out of crisis and into more long-term stability. Throughout the Victim Specialist relationship with the survivor there is a focus on Solution-Focused Therapy practices (Lee, 2007). Solution-Focused Therapy emphasizes the client’s strengths and resources in moving toward the ultimate goal of safety (Lee, 2007). The Victim Specialist develops a Personal Empowerment Plan with the survivor that focuses on existing strengths, sets realistic concrete goals, and plans for the best utilization of local resources that will enhance the victim’s safety and transition to striving and self-sufficiency. By focusing on the victim's individual strengths and creating a plan for coordination and utilization of local resources, the project creates an environment conducive to assisting the victim's transition from crisis to self-sufficiency and empowerment.

Explain how your organization uses volunteers to support its victimization programs or if your organization does not use volunteers explain any circumstances that prohibit the use of volunteers.

We do not use volunteers for this project due to a combination of factors: 1) The job description for a victim specialist does not support supervisory functions which would include supervising a volunteer; 2) The nature of the position requires vetting for confidentiality of both victim information as well as the County Attorney's systems and protocols, which is not conducive to volunteer service.
